

Postdoctoral Fellow (Protein Mass Spectrometry)

---

Who we are:

At Roche, we believe passionately in what we do, and that our products make a difference in people's lives. We are a successful business that can offer exciting career opportunities to you, both locally and internationally, in a supportive and rewarding culture. We know that our people are responsible for our success and we value our employees, aiming to create a work environment where feeling valued, respected and empowered is a daily experience.

Headquartered in Basel, Switzerland, Roche is one of the world's leading research-focused healthcare groups in the fields of pharmaceuticals and diagnostics. As the world's biggest biotech company and an innovator of products and services for the early detection, prevention, diagnosis and treatment of diseases, the Group contributes on a broad range of fronts to improving people's health and quality of life. Roche is the world leader in in-vitro diagnostics and drugs for cancer and transplantation, a market leader in virology and active in other major therapeutic areas such as autoimmune diseases, inflammation, metabolic disorders and diseases of the central nervous system.

The Position:

A post-doctoral position is available immediately in the Exploratory Biomarkers section of the Molecular Medicine Laboratories Basel to work on quantification by mass spectrometry. The candidate will participate on a team effort to test and validate multiplexed proteomic techniques to isolate, identify, characterize and quantify proteins from cellular extracts and plasma. The position is offered for two years, renewable for a third year upon common agreement.

Who you are:

Ph.D. in Biochemistry, Chemistry, or equivalent with strong emphasis in analytical methods in protein chemistry. Experience with mass spectrometry of peptides and proteins, in particular LC-MS and LC-MS/MS. Previous experience with immunological techniques (Western blotting, immunoprecipitation) is advantageous.
